

CUTTING EDGE

August 2011

...A Beauty Competition it certainly was not!!

Well, that's another Social/Competition safely tucked away behind us and most enjoyable it was too.

Two surprises on the day.....Maggie did not walk away with every prize in sight (I think she took it easy on us this year or did not fancy cleaning all those cups again) and JT turned up with an even bigger competition piece, so big in fact that it was decided to leave it in the hall in case it fell over and started a tsunami in spilt tea.

Most of the rain held off so the catering team were able to do their usual splendid job. I was asked by Maggie to include a very special 'thank you' to the lads outside and, of course, the scorers inside.

...and then we have examples of partners work

Incident relayed during Social...

A member's partner asked him recently "Could you please go shopping for me and buy one carton of milk, and if they have any nice eggs, get 6!"

A short time later he came back with 6 cartons of milk.

He was asked "Why the hell did you buy 6 cartons of milk?"

The reply was of course "They had eggs."

There's just no pleasing some folk.

If toys will get me
in the door
when it is time to go,
I have it made!
