The Christmas Competition

Well.....almost!!

This year's competition went with a swing, the number of entries being way up on recent times. Innovation came to the fore in the Novices Section (lamps) with John Turner's winning entry - a full size replica of the Blackpool illuminations. This entry also took the Charles Newson Cup, being the item that most partners would liked to have taken home with them.

The subject of 'Miniatures' also proved to be very popular. Gaya Taylor, a novice, was given special dispensation to enter this category as she wishes to specialise in this field. The marking was close but Mike pipped t'others to the post.

As for the Advanced Section, Daphne took the cup with her involuted turning piece. She will deny it now but, in the distant past, she did promise to give us a demonstration on the subject Lionel.....please note.
