

The Dynamic Duo

The master and his apprentice were demonstrating at the September meeting. Lidded boxes feature in the Xmas Competition so lidded boxes it was. John started and gave his usual polished performance (even if they were the same old jokes).

Dave then stepped up to the lathe and did an extremely good job for his first outing. Boxes can be a nightmare to demonstrate and it can be a saving grace to have "one I prepared earlier" in the toolbox. Dave did well without the need for Blue Peter trickery.

Does that mean we will see other members now having a go? Who's first?

Audio/Visual

Majority of equipment now purchased. We have:
42" Panasonic TV
2 x Panasonic Camcorders

Above totals £1293 and there will be £100 cashback to be claimed. Also around £150 spent on cables, clip mike and ancillary equipment.

Do we spend £188 on a stand or use table for TV?

Members' Work

← Maggie does it again

At The Worshipful Company of Turners Maggie won third prize in the Plain (!!!) Turning Competition. Not only that, one of the chalices was purchased by the company to present to a certain Boris who, apparently is known in that neck of the woods. Also seen there.....

Free timber

Julian's son has access to some very nice timber at Westfield.

Prepared oak offcuts are typical of that on offer. No sooner had I said "no thanks" than a job turned up calling for just that ... "Can I please have a frame to raise an armchair 3 inches" A lump of 3 x 3 would have been ideal and save all that preparation from the 'round'. Why is it that you never have just what you want?

So if you do not want to be in that position give Julian a call and rent a lorry - 01797 224 206
